
THAT READERSHIP survey, which was taken by Judy Rickard, a graduate student at San Jose State, which we reported on last week in this column, proved interesting to a number of our readers.

We have received favorable comments on it.

You may recall that, as part of a term paper Judy was doing on credibility of newspapers, she sent questionnaires to 192 subscribers of The Press who were picked at random from the 48 route lists of the carriers.

The results were tabulated as part of Miss Rickard's term paper to show what the feelings were of the readers on the credibility of a hometown newspaper, to wit, The Campbell Press.

The Press fared very well overall on the basis of the survey.

In our report we quoted a couple of the more candid comments that were submitted, including one from one reader who admitted that the paper was pretty good. She looked forward to it on Wednesday, "even if George is blinded by friendship at times....."

We thought that particular criticism was complimentary.

Whether or not the reader intended it that way is unimportant.

We don't mind having it known that we do have some friends.

It's better by far than having all enemies. In this racket, one makes enough of those without even trying.

WE DO QUESTION, HOWever, the reader's point that we have been "blinded by friendship". At least not on very many occasions.

We have had too many rip-roaring arguments with our friends when we have been on opposite sides of controversial issues to make that stick.

We go on the theory that holding animated "discussions" and having opposing viewpoints is stimulating. We enjoy indulging in such exercises. We hold that such activities should have nothing to do with friendship per se.

Golly, what are friends for?

If you can't argue without running the risk of losing your mutual regard for each other, that would be a sad state of affairs. We submit that the bond wouldn't have been too strong to start with, if a healthy argument weakened it.

But we have lost a few from time to time.

Both arguments and friends, that is.

ONE OF THE COMMENTS on our report of the readership survey was made by Lester Lafferty, who resides in Santa Cruz and who was publisher of this paper before we took over in 1956. Les is one of our good friends and is an avid reader of The Press

Here's his note: "Hi, George: That was a dandy article in your column this week, about the test on newspaper readership.

"With your permission, I've sent it on to the California Publisher, for use or for condensation, so that other newsmen can get a chuckle and a blush from the candid appraisal of the hometown editor.

"With all good wishes, always,

"Cordially, Les."

Certainly you can send it on, Les.

As a matter of fact, our ego is always inflated when anyone suggests that any of the priceless gems that find their way into this column are worth repeating.

Incidentally, there was one minor discrepancy in our report on the readership survey with respect to the educational respect to the educational level of those responding.

Our report indicated that "all had attended some col-

COMMISSION APPROVES

New landscape rules win okay

Campbell's proposed new landscaping ordinance won the unanimous approval of the Planning Commission Monday night. In an atmosphere of sweetness and light, the Chamber of Commerce was lauded for working so closely with the city in developing a "workable ordinance".

The Chamber of Commerce, under its commercial committee, headed by Holly Vollenweider, originally had objected to the conditions contained in the first draft of the ordinance, specifically involving the percentage of commercial areas that must be landscaped.

But in a series of study sessions, involving the CofC committee and members of the planning and park commissions and the city staff, the conditions were modified to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The ordinance that won approval specifies that a minimum of 10% net site area, excluding all areas covered by buildings, will be landscaped

It also provided that drive-in orientated businesses (service stations, etc.) must have a 15% minimum in landscaping excluding the area covered by buildings.

The original ordinance did not specify the net site area and had a higher percentage

CASE CONTINUED

Slated for this Tuesday in the Los Gatos-Campbell-Saratoga Municipal Court, the case of the City of Campbell against James Craig for allegedly violating a city ordinance against flying pennants has been continued until Tuesday, July 13.

Directed to remove 10 pennants flying from his business establishment at 2501 Winchester, because they were prohibited by city ordinance, Craig replaced the pennants with American flags. He was charged with violation of the city ordinance and demanded a trial by jury.

NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

Clubhouse issue faces Council

Legal details involved in the transaction, as well as what expenses would be incurred, if the City of Campbell should accept the Country Woman's Club gift of the 48-year-old meeting hall at First and Campbell Ave., will be discussed at the City Council meeting next Monday, June 28.

The meeting next Monday will probably be the last meeting the Council will hold in the old city hall, the headquarters of the city since 1956. Moving day is scheduled for Friday, July 9, and the next regular Council meeting is on July 12.

Demolition of the old city hall, part of which was built before the turn of the century and was used by the Congregational Church of Campbell for almost 60 years prior to 1956, is scheduled to take place shortly after the move into the new quarters is completed.

In keeping with the historical significance of next Monday's meeting, the Rev. Corwin H. Olds, pastor emeritus of the Congregational Church and who was pastor at the time the city purchased the church building, has been invited to speak at the Council meeting.

CLUBHOUSE

Coincidentally, the offer of the Woman's Club which will be discussed next Monday, involves another "historical" building in town, the clubhouse which was built in 1923.

On May 24, the Country Woman's Club officially offered the hall to the city with the stipulation, however, that the club would be able to continue to use the hall as a meeting place weekly.

At that time the Council directed City Attorney Bob Dempster and City Manager Bob Stephens to explore the

WALTER SILBERBAUER

Dinner to honor retiring employee

Fellow employees and friends of Walter R. Silberbauer, superintendent of maintenance and operations of County Sanitation District No. 4, will honor him at a recognition dinner this Friday, June 25, at the Franciscan restaurant at Hamilton and Meridian.

Silberbauer is retiring on July 1, after 20 years of service to the district.

It will be the second "recognition" dinner at which Silberbauer has been the honored guest.

Last year, Silberbauer, who has long been active in community affairs was honored upon his retirement as assistant chief of the Campbell Fire Department volunteer reserve unit. He has been a member of the Campbell Volunteer Fire Department since 1926.

Silberbauer has also been active in the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, serving as Noble Grand and district deputy of that organization He played a major role in the construction of the new lodge hall for the IOOF.

Prior to becoming the first employee of Sanitation District 4 in January, 1951, Silberbauer had been employed by the Campbell Water Co. for 12 years. He has been active in "clean water" activities for many years. He served as president of the Peninsula chapter of the American Water Works Association.

In his 20 years with District 4, he has been responsible for the district's waste-water collection system that has grown from 20 miles of sewers serving 20,000 persons to more than 390 miles serving 120,000. Many of the preventive maintenance measures that he used in the local district have been copied by other districts throughout the state.

Silberbauer was born in Cape Town, South Africa, and upon the death of his father moved to Campbell with his mother, brother and sister.

He attended both the elementary and high schools in Campbell.

He and his wife, Bonnie,

GOLF

Almost all "golfers" win prizes in third annual CofC tourney

Almost all of the 68 players who participated last Wednesday in the third annual Chamber of Commerce golf tournament held at the Riverside course were prize-winners of one degree or another, because of the generosity of the local merchants.

However, top honors and trophies went to John Walsh, with a low gross of 78; Dean Vesling, low net, 92-26-66 and Ed Parker and John Vierhus (tie) for Callaway with 64.

The tournament committee, headed by Ed Meszaros, chairman, and Bob Blonder, vice-chairman, reported that a special award should have been given to Jay Cross, who was injured in a unique manner with his own club.

Details are still somewhat sketchy, but "unofficial" reports indicated that Cross was cut by wires on a fence that broke when he was attempting to retrieve a ball that he had hit out-of-bounds. Somehow the club he was carrying was also involved in the incident, it was reported. Cross was unable to be present at the award-ceremony to verify the details.

It was also reported that Jim Schafer suffered a wire scratch while attempting to recover an errant ball.

Second place for low gross went to Russ Matesso with a 79, while Frank Dato with 82-15-67 had second low net, and third low net went to the Rev. W.H. (Ben) Gould with 88-19-69.

Tied for second place in the calloway were Jack Wygal and Frank Palermo with 67.

"Worst golfer" honors went to Joe Geist with 146, but Ed Fabbri, 1969 winner in that category, gave Geist a run with 143.

Longest drive honor was collected by Lou Gorham, and Harold Strickland got the "closest to hole" prize.

The 68 players were divided into 18 foursomes and each foursome teed off on a different hole just before 1 p.m. following the "shotgun" blast. Play was finished by 5:30 p.m.

The entry fee of $15 included a lunch, green fees, a barbeque in the evening, prizes and refreshments during the afternoon's play via a mobile unit efficiently handled by Myron Alexander.

Ira Kirkorian, Al LaPlante and Tom State assisted Meszaros and Blonder in arranging for the event. The Rev. Gould, assisted by John Laws, handled the MC chores including the awarding of trophies and prizes.

Ministers at Campbell Methodist Church receive reappointments

The Rev. W.H. (Ben) Gould, pastor of the First United Methodist Church in Campbell since January, 1961, has been reappointed to the local pastorate by Bishop Charles F. Golden, resident bishop of the California-Nevada Conference of the United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Alan R. Goozee, associate pastor of the Campbell church since 1962, was also reappointed..

The appointments are effective for one year, beginning July 1, and were included in the list of 300 ministers that were appointed by the bishop that were announced at the close of the California-Nevada Conference held last week at the University of Pacific in Stockton.

In the business session of the conference, a resolution was passed supporting the Hatfield-McGovern Act, which calls for the withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Vietnam by Dec. 31, 1971.

New pastors assigned in the San Jose area included the Rev. Claude H. Friesen to the Almaden church; the Rev. J. Donald Zerbe to St. Paul's and the Rev. Wayne Williams to Willow Glen.

Editorial

A joint effort

In the near future, the City of Campbell and the Campbell Union (elementary) School District, we hope, will "break ground" in a cooperative venture that we feel will be beneficial to all the citizens of the community.

We refer, of course, to the recent action taken by the City Council and the Board of Trustees in the adoption of a joint powers agreement which, in effect, will expand seven school sites into neighborhood parks.

This joint effort or "joint powers agreement" on the part of the city and school district, although novel for Campbell has been used effectively in other areas and is authorized by state law.

Under the joint powers act, cities and school districts can cooperate with one another for the purpose of authorizing, promoting and conducting programs of community recreation, which, according to the law, "will contribute to the attainment of general recreational and educational objectives for children and adults".....

We have long maintained that there should be more of this cooperation between tax-supported governmental agencies.

We dislike with a vengeance the self-centered concept that so often is presented by governing boards of one tax-supported agency or another.

In too many instances these official boards take the position that they are not interested in what transpires in other agencies or districts, even, if on many occasions, there is an overlapping of functions.

We hold that there are many areas in which the various agencies could cooperate more effectively than has been the case in the past to give the guy who pays the freight a better break.

We are pleased that the school district and the city have agreed to work together in the development of the neighborhood parks.

Such cooperation could possibly lead to similar joint efforts.

We sincerely hope that will be the case.

In this case of the City of Campbell and the Campbell Union School District, seven school sites, San Tomas, Hazelwood, Rosemary, Dover, Capri, Forest Hill and Rolling Hills, all within the city limits of Campbell, will be developed for joint use as park areas.

The citizens of the city approved a park bond issue in 1969 which allocated $10,000 in funds for each of the seven school sites in the Campbell district and another $10,000 for a Moreland District school site within the city limits.

Under the city school district pact, the school district furnishes the sites and the city will do the improvements. It is almost that simple.

Members of the various home and school clubs have enthusiastically accepted the program. In almost every case, not only have they worked out plans for the development of the parcels with the city staff, but have also indicated that through volunteer labor and contributions they hope to expand the facilities further.

We concede that this has been the first such cooperative effort of any magnitude between the city and the school district, and as a result, there has been some "dragging of feet" as the two agencies hammered out an agreement to the satisfaction of both parties.

Apparently all the details were settled amicably, for the joint powers agreement is now a matter of record.

This is not to say, of course, that before the first spadeful of ground is turned in any one of the seven sites that there will not be other road blocks encountered.

It is a new approach in Campbell and, consequently, there will be a number of minor problems that will crop up from a jurisdictional point of view.

Undoubtedly there will be some problems arising as to the development schedule of the program, like, which school site should be developed first, etc.

Minor disagreements will probably develop also over the plans that have been presented for each school. There will be changes made, obviously.

But we submit that those are minor ailments and should not affect the overall worth of this first joint powers venture of the city and school district.

lege...."

It should have been that "all had attended some high school".

It would never do to give the wrong impression of The Press' readers, educationally speaking, that is.

FOR A NUMBER OF years at budget time in the Campbell city hall, the City Council has been divided on a 3-2 basis on the allocation of funds for the councilmen to attend either the convention of the National League of Cities or the legislative conference in Washington, D.C.

This year was no exception.

The preliminary draft of the budget had deleted $3,300 for expenses of the councilmen to attend either the National League conference which will be held in Honolulu, or the legislative conference in the nation's capital.

At the first study session on the preliminary budget, the $3,300 was put back in by a 3-2 vote.

Mayor Ralph Doetsch and Councilmen Bill Smeed and Ed Rogers voted in favor of the $3,300 junket with Vice-Mayor Bill Podgorsek and Councilman Dean Chamberlin opposing such an expenditure.

In our opinion, Podgorsek and Chamberlin were correct in their opposition to such an allocation because we feel that the City of Campbell will not realize any benefit from the national conferences.

The national group is dominated by the big cities, and while we admit that it is important to know what problems are confronting New York, Chicago, Detroit and Philadelphia, we fail to see how their problems bear any relationship to those of Campbell's.

Campbell plays ball in an entirely different league.

We agree wholeheartedly that the local councilmen should attend and participate in conferences conducted by the California League of Cities where the municipal problems that are discussed could have some relationship to this city.

There is no question that the sharing of mutual municipal headaches at the state and regional level would be beneficial.

But Mayor Lindsey of New York or Mayor Daly of Chicago really, in our book, haven't much to share with Mayor Ralph Doetsch of Campbell.

At least we hope not.

USING "JUNKET" TO describe such an activity of the local city fathers may not be clear enough to you.

The dictionary reveals several definitions:

"Junket--a trip, as by an official or legislative committee, paid out of public funds and ostensibly to obtain information."

Then there is another: "Junket--a pleasure excursion as picnic or outing...."

We are doing further research to see which definition is more applicable in the Campbell situation.

OF COURSE, IT CAN BE argued in some quarters that the councilmen work hard at their job and spend many, many hours in public service and they deserve some of the fringe benefits that go with the job.

We admit that the City of Campbell is fortunate in having a group of conscientitious councilmen at the helm of the city.

They are doing an excellent job on the whole and we have said so publicly on many occasions.

But these "excursions", which have become somewhat traditional, were initiated before each councilman received the $150 monthly stipend, as they do now.

Wading through the city budget is just one of the many time-consuming tasks that face the council. We estimate that they will expend more than 30 hours scrutinizing the city's fiscal bible.

And they will sincerely try to do the best job they can.

Take as a f'instance, in discussing the proposed budget for the city clerk's department, City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan was asked by Mayor Doetsch, if she was satisfied.

The question came after a divided Council, following some heated discussion, had put the $3,300 for the junket back into the budget.

"I think I would like to go to Hawaii, too" Dorothy answered.

The entire council broke up, on that one.

YOUR EDITOR IS APpreciative of the congratulations that we have received because of our selection to serve on the Grand Jury for the remainder of the year.

In January, 19 out of the 30 nominated were selected by lot. Even with such good odds, we missed then.

When a vacancy occurred, we were selected by lot from the 11 remaining on the panel. That's an 11 to 1 shot.

For those who have wondered just what it all means, the Grand Jury is an investigatory body of ancient origin and is part of the judicial system.

Basically it examines into the commission of crimes and corruption in public office, and it investigates certain phases of county government.

By law it is a misdemeanor to violate the secrecy of any of the activities of the Grand Jury.

So don't look for "exclusives" in this column.

PERFUNCTORY REsearch indicates that your editor is the first Campbell resident to serve on the Grand Jury in recent years.

As a matter of fact, there are some who claim that there has never been a Campbell resident on the Grand Jury.

We doubt that.

Maybe some of you "oldtimers" can help out on that.

Being "first" in anything is a little unusual for us.

Vollenweider told the Commission that the CofC heartily endorsed the modified ordinance. He felt that "something good" had been worked out, which would be both feasible and workable without using "exceptions".

Commissioner Don Hebard, who had been active from the start in the developing of the ordinance, explained that the purpose was to make streets more attractive and to screen paved areas. He commended the CofC for its cooperation.

Chairman Dale Scott also added his commendation for the work of the committee and, following a suggestion from Norm Paul, asked the committee to stay in existence and, with the staff, explore and report at the earliest convenience methods that could be used to improve older areas in town using the new ordinance as a guide.

In other actions, the Commission approved plans of Ray Kanawyer for four separate four-plex units to be located on West Valley Dr.

Plans were also approved for R.A. Rotondo for a warehouse at 1624 Dell Ave. and for an industrial building at 1190 Dell Ave. for Tony Kovac.

Clarence Toy, owner of property at 1150 Dell Ave. told the Commission that it was important to see that buildings in that area should be attractively designed.

Approval was also given Joseph Herr for an industrial building at 279 and 285 Dillon Ave.

The Commission also approved the sign for the new Sambo's restaurant which will be located in the new shopping center at Campbell and San Tomas.

The Public Hearing on Central Development's proposed nine story building to be located on the corner of Hamilton, San Tomas Expressway and Llewellyn, has been continued to the July 6 Planning Commission meeting.

situation with the legal counsel of the Woman's Club.

Legal counsel for the club has indicated that the condition of transfer of ownership should specify, that should the building be sold or destroyed under city ownership, the city would furnish the club a rent-free meeting place or that the property would revert to the Woman's Club.

It will be those conditions that will probably highlight the discussion next Monday.

Another item relating to the building that will come under the scrutiny of the Council will be the extra expense that the acquisition will mean to the city.

According to City Manager Stephens, it is estimated that it will cost approximately $2550 to bring the building up to code, and that another $3000 will be needed for remodeling.

FIRE ENGINE GIFT

At the Council meeting next Monday, Fire Chief George Maxwell is slated to request that the city's 1937 pumper, which has not been in use for some time, be given to the city of Madero in Mexico, which the Campbell fire department over the years has aided in establishing an efficient fire fighting department.

Shipping costs to the Mexican city, it is understood, will be defrayed by the Campbell Rotary Club.

STREET PROJECT

At next Monday's meeting Bill Wren, public works director, will request that the Council adopt an "environmental statement" specifying that the proposed improvement of Hamilton Ave. from the freeway to Winchester will not have an adverse effect on the environment.

Wren explains that such a statement is necessary as the first step in obtaining a $270,000 federal grant. The entire project is estimated to cost $377,755.

BUDGET

At Monday's meeting, the Council is also slated to adopt the $4.6 million preliminary budget which has been submitted by City Manager Bob Stephens. The Council met in lengthy budget study sessions during the past few weeks, but made few changes in the budget that has been proposed for the next fiscal year by the city manager.

By a 3-2 vote, however, the Council added $3300 to the budget for expenses of the councilmen to attend the National League of Cities in Hawaii.

Mayor Ralph Doetsch and Councilmen Bill Smeed and Ed Rogers favored the allocation with Councilmen Dean Chamberlin and Bill Podgorsek opposed.

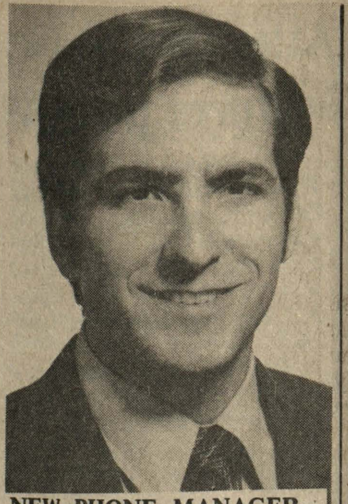
Mrs. Angelica Brandt, 74, a member of St. Lucy's Altar Society, Orchard City Grange and Lucette Senior Citizens, passed away Saturday after a short illness.

Mrs. Brandt, who made her home at 7252 Union Ave. was the widow of Frank Brandt, a Southern Pacific Railroad engineer who died in 1968.

Final rites were conducted Tuesday by Darling-Fischer and Faber's Campbell Memorial Chapel. A Mass of the Resurrection was held at St. Lucy's Church. Entombment was at Santa Clara Catholic Cemetary.

Mrs. Brandt was a native of Switzerland and had lived in the county for 40 years.



NEW PHONE MANAGER—James Bower, a 1970 Stanford economics graduate has been named the telephone business manager for Campbell, which has 45,000 telephone accounts. He replaces Nick Roden. Bower was formerly an assistant business manager in Fresno. Roden, who headed the Campbell office for two years, is moving to the company's plant department as supervising plant service foreman.

Bower, who was recognized as one of California's "five outstanding young men" by the California JayCees, was born and raised in Palo Alto. While at Stanford, he initiated and directed a tutorial program for the university and the Palo Alto school district.

City gets new police officer

Richard J. McGuffin, Jr., 21, has been appointed patrolman in the Campbell Police Department, effective June 15, according to Capt. Don Burr, acting chief of police.

McGuffin, a graduate of DeAnza College, is presently working as a complaint desk officer in the Palo Alto Police Department and attending DeAnza.

The Cupertino High School graduate will replace John Rapp, who has accepted a position on the San Jose Police Department.

Phone company warns on use of credit cards

Pacific Telephone is stepping up its efforts to warn that it is unlawful to use unauthorized credit card or unauthorized telephone numbers to avoid charges, according to company officials.

From now on, the firm said, all new telephone directories will carry a warning in the introductory pages that such mis-use of numbers is cause for prosecution.

"Anyone violating Section 502.7, California Penal Code, by attempting to avoid lawful charges for telephone service may be fined up to $5000 and imprisoned up to five years," the warning says.

In addition, the company is taking steps to post the warning in public telephone booths.

Company spokesmen said the warnings are part of a program to combat fraudulent use of credit card numbers and telephone numbers.

Home decorating course begins

If the surroundings in your home seem to be dull and old, West Valley College has the answer for you in a four-week course on home decorating beginning June 28.

Each Monday through Friday from 1 to 4 p.m. (through July 23), Mrs. Marilyn Spencer, instructor, and outside resource speakers will discuss and demonstrate home decorating techniques.

The course is a study of the basic art principles of texture, color and composition. Self expression of these specific principles will be applied through various media, such as collage, tie dye and batik, in order to create aesthetic wall treatments and creative seating.

All aspects of home decoration, from selection of colors for the walls to size and placement of furniture, will be explored.

Mrs. Spencer attended both San Jose State College and the University of California, Santa Barbara, and holds both a bachelor's and master's degree.

Interested participants in the course must register and pay a $10 fee at the Office of Community Services, 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell, room L-26, telephone 379-1733, ext. 58.

Enrollment is limited and applications will be on a first-come, first-served basis with residents of the West Valley College district given first priority.

Afternoon show features puppets

The San Jose Marionette Theater, sponsored by the Cabrini Community Theater, will present the famous "Sudyka Marionettes" at the St. Frances Cabrini Hall on Camden Ave. on Saturday, June 26, at 3 p.m.

This production will be a benefit for the San Jose Marionette Theater's upcoming children's workshop and production of the People-Puppet production, "Goldilocks and the Three Bears", to be presented in mid-July. A donation of 50 cents is requested.

The Sudyka Marionettes are a marionette-musical family based currently in Santa Clara. They have performed extensively throughout this area, San Francisco, and as far away as Nebraska.

Creator of the puppets and marionettes is Ann Sudyka, mother of six and wife of Ed Sudyka.

In addition to her home-making career and puppeteering, Mrs. Sudyka finds time to help out at the Santa Clara Blind Center and the Cabrini Community Theater.

Highlighting the puppet-marionette show on Saturday will be the play "Jack and the Beanstalk", co-written by Ann Sudyka and John P. Healy, Jr. Other shorter skits and routines will also be presented.

This is an ideal opportunity for adults and children alike to enjoy professional puppeteering in the local area at a reasonable cost.

In addition, any youngster from 7-16 years who would like to participate in the upcoming production of "Goldilocks and the Three Bears" or "Wizard Of Oz", should come to Cabrini Hall on Thursday from 10–11 a.m. or on Saturday from 12–12:30 p.m. For further information or tickets, call 371-0232 or 377-9825.

Barbara Webber is June bride

MRS. RICHARD PALMER DALRYMPLE

Miss Barbara Jean Webber joined the list of June brides when she recited her vows with Richard Palmer Dalrymple in ceremonies at Grace Baptist Church recently.

Barbara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Webber, 877 Almarida Dr., chose an empire gown of ivory chiffon for her special day. Hand-clipped Chantilly lace fashioned the high rise bodice, long fitted sleeves and a Victorian collar. The full gathered chiffon skirt and attached train had a wide scalloped lace border. Her bouquet was of white roses and baby's breath.

Ronald Webber gave his daughter's hand in marriage, while the bride's mother witnessed the ceremony wearing a green silk ensemble, with pearl and seed trim and accessories to match.

Attendants were Mary Mills, Mary Martini, Linda Sherbo and Rebecca Wager.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Dalrymple of Santee, California, are parents of the groom. Mrs. Dalrymple wore a pink silk dress with bead trim about the hemline and matching accessories.

Steve Miller was best man. Ushers were Gary Hoffman, Richard Webber, and Anthony Fares. Mrs. James King was soloist. Organist was David Keith.

The bride attends San Diego State, while the groom is a student at Grossmont College in San Diego.

After a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe, the newlyweds will make their home in San Diego.

Stargazing kids enjoy W. V. College planetarium

Gazing at the sky each night has been made easier and much more interesting to a fifth and sixth grade class from Sherman Oaks School in the Campbell Elementary School District.

A sixth grade class taught by "Hoot" Beavers and a fifth-sixth grade combination taught by Ron Greene visited West Valley College's Saratoga planetarium in June. The two classes viewed the last showing of the college's year-long program of planetarium shows for school-age children.

Each Tuesday morning during the past year, classes from feeder schools in West Valley College's district have viewed the heavens in Saratoga's planetarium, with the program conducted by Tom Bullock, astronomy instructor.

The Campbell school children viewed "Planets Among the Stars"–a show designed to explain our sun and its solar system to the students. This was accomplished through the use of the Spitz A-4 planetarium projector, first of its kind on the West Coast.

The Campbell students sat in rapt attention as the lights dimmed, the music grew louder and Bullock began to explain the beginnings of our solar system.

Bullock took the students to each of the planets, describing the atmosphere and surroundings the students might find if they traveled to each one of them.

Beavers and Greene had said prior to the show that the students had been looking forward to the show. They had been studying astronomy in their classes, and had learned many Greek, Roman and Italian myths about the stars. After the show the students did not seem disappointed and were quick to ask Bullock questions about "red giants", "white dwarfs" and our solar system.

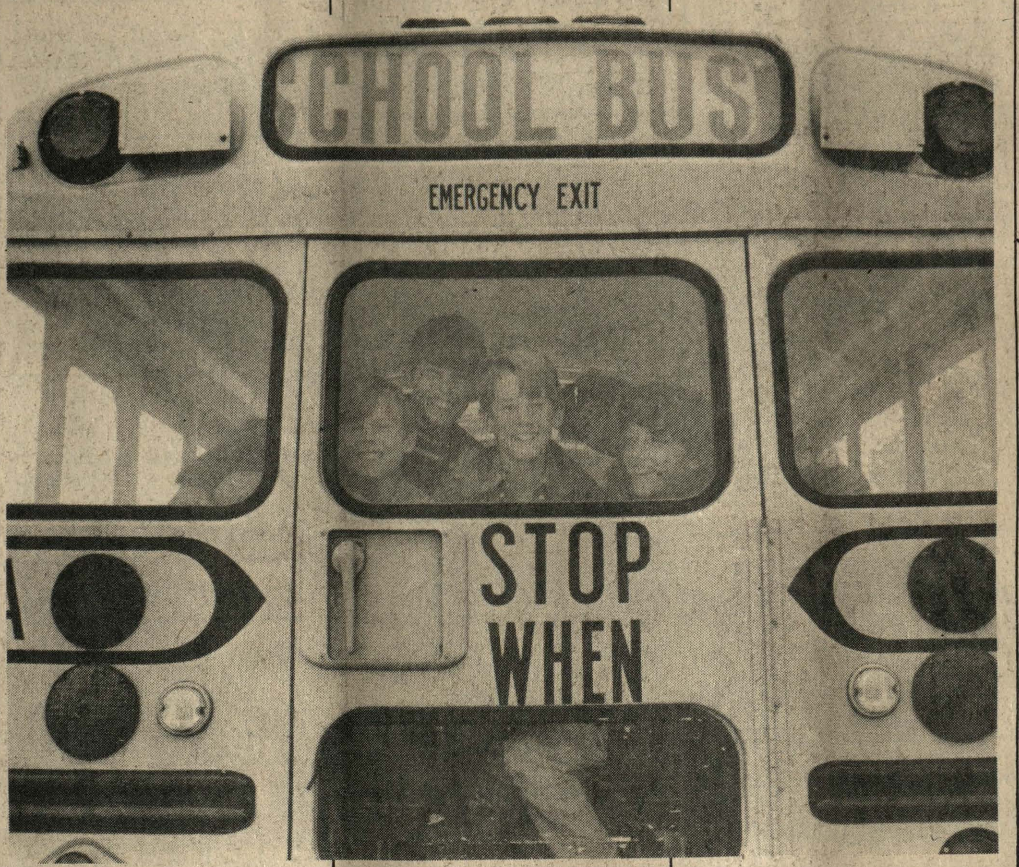
Plans for a planetarium program for children during the next year are uncertain at the moment, but final plans will be made this summer.

During the summer months residents of the West Valley College District may enjoy a planetarium show each Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m. beginning June 23 and running through July 31.

"Haleakala–The House of the Sun" will take viewers on a star voyage to Hawaii, Polynesia and other areas of the South Pacific.

The stars will be examined from the viewpoint of modern astronomers and also through the eyes of the "poe kilokilo", as the Hawaiian astronomer of old was named. Viewers will hear of the legend of the "sacred calabash" and also of the volcano Haleakala–the house of the sun; and how it came to be so named. The "black shining road of Kane", "Kanaloa" and a great celestial octopus swimming among the stars will also be shown. "Stonehenge of the Pacific", and the sun rising on Easter Island are also part of the show.

To make reservations participants must call the Office of Community Services, 379-1733, ext. 58. A 50 cent admission charge per person will be collected at the door.



WE HAD FUN--Fifth and sixth graders of Sherman Oaks School crowd into the back of the bus as they prepare to leave West Valley College's Saratoga campus after what the kids described as a "fantastic" planetarium show.

PLANETARIUM VISIT--West Valley College astronomy instructor Tom Bullock discusses and answers questions about "Planets Among the Stars"–a show he directed each week this past year at West Valley's planetarium. The two Sherman Oaks classes were quick to ask questions about the sky and our solar system following Bullock's show.

Voluntary cat licenses to go into effect

You may think a pet cat has nine lives, but the County Health Department says it would be a wise idea for cat owners to purchase an "insurance policy" in the form of a $5 cat license.

Starting July 1 the licenses will be available on a voluntary basis through the department. The license will be good for five years.

At the present time when a stray or injured cat is picked up by the County's animal control officers and taken to the Animal Shelter there is no way to identify the pet, the health department reports.

The result is that the animal must be disposed of painlessly.

Last year several thousand cats were put to death in this County, many probably because there was no way to determine the owners.

Under the new system if an owner obtains a license he will receive a small metal tag with a number for the animal's collar. The pet's description and the owner's name and address will be recorded in the health department files.

If the cat is either injured and taken to a veterinarian or picked up by an animal control officer as a stray, the owner can be notified.

If the cat is licensed and is at the Animal Shelter, County regulations require that it be held for three days to allow the owner to claim it. Unlicensed cats may not be held that long.

DARTING AROUND

with Tom Carroll

The championship matches for both the "A" and "B" Divisions of the Northern California Darts Assn. were held at the Abbey Tavern in San Francisco.

Located at 4100 Geary Blvd., it is a bit of the ol' sod planted in the City by the Golden Gate. Those players who arrived early were treated to the lilting sounds of a live Irish band as the regular habitues were warming up for an Irish Festival later that afternoon. After the group had left for the festival Irish music could still be heard, as that is all there is on the juke box.

The first of the dart matches for Sunday afternoon at the Pub was the "B" Division Championship between Shakey's Pizza, Concord, and the Blind Lemon of Berkeley. Matches were played the same as regular Wednesday night league play, with a third five-man team game as the tie breaker if needed.

The Lemon started things off by taking the first team game. Russ Charleton shot an 80 away for the Lemon in the first singles game but Jerry Touchstone countered with a 76 away for Shakeys. Russ popped a 14 out for the second Lemon win. Jim Touchstone popped a ton (100) in getting the Shakey's first win by skunking Darryl Lowry.

John Merit and Maggie Cain took the next two for the Lemon from Ted Albert and Jerry Prado. Maggie shot a 105 in winning her game. The Lemon's Chuck Abma lost the last game of the first half to the Shakey's Paul Touchstone.

LEMON LEADS

As the second half started the Blind Lemon had a 4-2 lead over Shakey's. This time Shakey's won the team game and Paul Touchstone took the first singles game from Russ Carleton. The match was now tied 4-4.

That was it as far as the Blind Lemon was concerned. They won the next three games for the required seven wins and the match. The Lemon will now receive a new association trophy specially designed for the "B" Division.

POTPOURRI

Next week we'll tell you about the Falstaff Cup "A" Division Championship Match.

Sunday afternoon, there will be the Ted Allen Benefit at the Gaslighter Theater, 400 E. Campbell Ave. It will be a doubles tournament with a donation required from each player.

The Gaslighter Theater didn't fair too well in their matches for the challenge plaques. The Lancashire Lad took theirs back and the Black Knight retained possession of the Bull and Bush plaque.

The Steppenwolf of Berkeley brought two teams down to the Lancashire Lad a couple of weeks ago. The Lad's girl's team won 8-5 while the Wolf's men's team won 9-8.

In the first night of the unofficial Summer League, the only score we've heard at this writing was the 11-1 defeat the Black Watch suffered at the hands of the Banbury Clock.

Legion installs at local post

West Valley Post 158, American Legion, held installation of officers recently at the Post, 1344 Dell Ave.

The 13th District ritualistic team conducted the services, which were attended by 100 members, guests and friends.

Installed were Robert Harjes, commander; Edward Nasiatka, first vice-commander; Aaron Ganz, second vice-commander; M. Nimerick, adjutant; Carl Cada, treasurer; William Haggerty, Jr., chaplain; Lewis H. Leve, judge advocate; Vernon Tolbert, sergeant-at-arms and Tony Storti, assistant sergeant-at-arms.

Board members installed were Rex Kaber, James Olson and Roger Mathis. William Broadstone, outgoing commander, reported that the Post now had a paid membership of 150.

Local Air Force has openings

Master Sergeant Roy Rouse, local Air Force Recruiter, announced today that the Air Force has immediate openings.

Rouse stated that persons enlisting for the first time will be given the USAF Aptitude Test and will be allowed to choose their own enlistment area, guaranteed in writing.

Rouse further indicated that veterans of all services, honorably discharged, in pay grade E-4, or higher, now have the chance to re-enlist with little or no loss of rank if otherwise qualified. They are eligible for their base of choice and possible re-training.

Persons interested in Air Force programs are encouraged to visit the Air Force Office located at 2275 Winchester Blvd. in Campbell or to call 379-6753.

MEMBERSHIP NEWS --- William Broadstone, past commander of American Legion West Valley Post 158, looks on while M. Nimerick, adjutant, left, presents Andrew Salontai, department commander, with results of the recent aerial membership drive, which brought the membership to an all-time high.

PERFORM FOR TEENS --- "Gropus Cackus" is the name of the lively rock group who'll be performing for Campbell High School Teen Club on Monday evening, June 28. The five members are Jim Kalogrides, lead guitar; Wayne Molzahn, rhythm guitar; Bill Duncan, base guitar; Rick Spitaleri, organ, and Rich Lamonica, drums. (They don't play the instruments they are pictured with.) The group recently appeared with Sly and the Family Stone. Their appearance marks the third popular rock group which the teen club has sponsored. The dance will be held in the high school gym, 1 West Campbell Ave., at 7 p.m.

GROUNDBREAKERS --- Sue Murrell of 2800 Joseph Ave., (left) was one of the three employees who participated in the official groundbreaking ceremonies last week (June 17) for the $9-½ million Phase II Addition to The Good Samaritan Hospital of Santa Clara Valley. The others are Rosemary Graham, R.N., "Miss Good Samaritan," and William Rainey, Pharm.D., "Employee of the Year." Mrs. Murrell is a clerk in the Central Sterile Supply Department of the hospital.

CAMPBELL CUBS

Cub Packs from Pioneer District, Boy Scouts of America, spent all of last week at Campbell Park with Den Mothers and Scouts, participating in a variety of outdoor activities. Den Mothers met with Scout Leaders and held informal training sessions while young Cubs participated in the areas of skills, crafts, games and nature, under the guidance of Boy Scouts during the day-long programs.

Boy Scout leader of this event was Mike Ridehout, Troop 346. Scouts Ken Wirt and Mike Dyer, Troop 363 conducted personal fitness exercises, races and other competitive events for the Cub Packs that participated during the week-long affair.

Scouts Jerry Avery and Jack Sorg, Troop 346, worked with energy-laden Cubs at skill sessions. These sessions consisted of games aimed at promoting physical skills.

Den Mothers Carol Shea and Bernice Witherell, Pack 331 and 342, kept other groups of Cubs busy at picnic tables making neckerchief slides, barbeque forks and door stops in the craft portion of the program.

Nature walks and talks were the special assignment of Scouts Bob Smith and Jim Loweecey, Troop 363. Cubs were told all about fossils and enjoyed a walk along Los Gatos Creek where they shared interesting facts about the flora and fauna with the older Scouts.

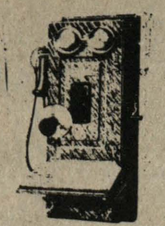
ARMBRUSTER here



In order to get people to the point in a conversation, sometimes I ask them – "If you were God, what would you have me do?" Well, I've just asked myself a similar question about the education system in our country and the following paragraphs are some of the answers.

"I'd make school attendance voluntary, not mandatory. In other words, I'd give public education a good stiff dose of free enterprise."

Imagine the result if children were free to go to school or not to go to school, and were free to go to the public school of their own choosing (of course, the parents would also participate in the choosing), but just for a minute, imagine the result. If we really believe in free enterprise, I say let's try it in the schools.

I'm optimistic about the result, I think it'll work.

And about things like mathematics and English and history and science. I'm not at all in agreement that these subjects ought to be taught as individual subjects.

Look at it this way. - Wouldn't you have to teach some of ALL these things if you taught the students to run their own business?

Wouldn't you have to teach some of ALL these things if you taught students to do auto repair?

Wouldn't you have to do some of all these things if you taught the students to raise a family?

Or fly an airplane, or build a house?

Or do any one of those thousands of things that we adults do while we're earning our living and going about our daily lives?

How about an analogy? If the various subject matters are like the tools in a carpenter's toolbox, should we teach Hammer? Or Saw? No! We teach how to make a doghouse. Then, perhaps how to build a bookcase, or hang a kitchen shelf.

I believe that the time to teach Saw is when you've got a board to cut.

The time to teach arithmetic is when you have to measure that board. And the time to teach grammar is when you have to write instructions on how to assemble those boards into a toychest.

And the time to teach reading is when you want to put a toychest together and the instructions are on a piece of paper.

What I'm trying to say is --- when you NEED to learn to do something in order to complete a task, that's when you're ready to learn it, not before.

If a young girl has to read to bake a cake, she'll learn to read a recipe --- because there's cakebaking to be done.

And if she has to learn some arithmetic in order to make a BIGGER cake, she'll learn arithmetic, but not in arithmetic class, in cooking class.

All this is not to say that our schools ought to be vocational schools --- what I believe is that EVERYTHING WE NOW TEACH could be put into a context which is meaningful to both students and teachers alike. And if we do that, people will have a drive for learning which will make a tremendous change in how schools function.

Auto repair students seek aid to attend national competition

Three award winning Santa Clara County high school students need help.

Steve Pyle, Gary Wygent and Charles Devincenzi won auto body and welding contests during the recent competition sponsored by the California State Vocational Industrial Clubs of America.

Students from all of the 58 California counties were entered in the contest. Now the three students each need $380 to finance their trips to the seventh annual national finals in Indianapolis, Indiana, June 27 to 30. This event will feature competition with winners from forty other states.

Without funds, they will not be able to represent California.

Gary Wygent, a junior at Westmont High School, won the first place in the auto body contest. According to Gary, "The contest included removing a dent from an automobile hood within one hour. We also had to write an estimate of repair costs from a wrecked car and paint a hood."

Gary's hobby is building and reselling cars. He plans to major in automotive technology at San Jose City College.

Charles Devincenzi, a junior at Camden High, won second place in the auto body competition. His future plans include working as an automobile body specialist. Charles' hobby is fixing jeeps.

Steve Pyle, who won first place in the welding contest, is a senior at James Lick in San Jose.

According to Ken Casteel, assistant director for Vocational Education, Santa Clara County Office of Education, "This dynamic organization, which is supported by business, industry, labor and education, began with 200 students in 1965. There are now one million participants in the programs created to encourage the growth and development of the total student. Interest is focused on his social and leadership abilities as well as his skills."

All of these winning students attend the San Jose Regional Vocational Center in addition to classes at their individual high schools. Their vocational studies are under the guidance of auto body instructor Ralph Benitez.

Each of them is enrolled in a two-year curriculum in his own specialty. This can lead to a job upon graduation as well as continuation of study and training at a junior college, four-year school or other institution.

Contributions to help these three students compete in the Indiana finals should be sent to Rod Clendenen, director, San Jose Regional Vocational Center, 760 Hillsdale Ave., San Jose, Ca. 95123.
